Corpus Christi Deep Water Builder to Tell Port Arthur About Intercoastal Canal Project

Issues of vital importance to Port Arthur and Port Arthurians will be set out straight from the shoulders of Roy Miller, at Corpus Christi, booster of the intercoastal canal, and A. L. Burge, the new manager of the Chamber of Commerce and Shipping, when they speak before the Port Arthur Young Men's Business League membership banquet at the Plaza hotel tonight at 7 o'clock, officials in the league said today.

Miller Good Member

Roy Miller is remembered among Y. M. B. L. men from a visit to Port Arthur about a year ago when he delivered a big speech just after the organization of the Y. M. B. L. here.

Miller recalled today. Miller is rated as one of the best speakers in Texas, and comes before the members of the league tonight with a big subject that he's patting his time, thought and energy into, they said.

Just what "Art" Burge, the new Chamber of Commerce manager, has on his chest to give the Y. M. B. L. tonight won't be known until he gets up and starts speaking, league officials declared, but added that "Art" is bound to talk about Port Arthur, is notorious for his pep, and therefore will give the Y. M. B. L. something to think about and talk about.

He's promised a 15 minute snappy oration for the function tonight, according to the officers.

"Vand" and "Jazz" Too

Speaking of entertainment, there'll be fried chicken, two or three vaudeville acts furnished by Jim Holman, theater manager, and a jazz orchestra, lined up by Earl Mullen, according to letters from the Y. M. B. L. entertainment committee. Guests accompanying each Y. M. B. L. member also are desired, advance notices from the entertainment committee set forth, and the membership is asked to make tonight's membership banquet the big event of the year.

STOKES INDICTED BY GRAND JURY

Millionaire's Attorney and Others True Billed

PROBES WIFE'S CHARGE

9 Counts Recite Conspiracy To Defame Mrs. Stokes

By United Press.

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—W. E. D. Stokes, New York millionaire, and his attorney, Daniel Nugent, and several others were charged with a conspiracy to defame the character of Mrs. Helen Elwood Stokes in true bills voted by the grand jury here today.

The others named in the true bills are Joe Brunner, charged with being Chicago "payoff" man for Nugent; Robert Lee, Ray Hubert, Mrs. Hattie Johnson and Harry Tapley.

Nine Counts

The true bills named nine counts of conspiracy to show that Mrs. Stokes had visited certain houses of ill-fame in Chicago.

The charges include conspiracy to accuse Mrs. Stokes of being an inmate of a disorderly house; a conspiracy to deprive Mrs. Stokes of her "good name," fame and credit; conspiracy to circulate false rumors; perjury to commit an illegal act; conspiracy to injure justice.

Capewell, a New York negro, is charged with gathering up false witnesses for Stokes.

Defective Testifies

Habert was head waiter of a Chicago cafe and he is accused of swearing falsely that Mrs. Stokes had visited the place with a negro character.

Hattie Johnson was employed by Stokes in New York and was active in the conspiracy, the grand jury at the Port Arthur session said.

The jury voted the true bills following the testimony of W. C. Danneberg, head of a private detective agency here.

Mrs. Stokes, who is preparing to leave for New York where the Stokes divorce hearings are to be resumed next Monday, appeared before the jury yesterday and charged that Stokes conspired to "cheat" her out of her dowry rights and to prevent their children from sharing in the millionaire's estate.

The grand jury returned the indictments in Judge Caverly's court.

LLOYD GEORGE CENTER OF RIOT

Irish Sympathizers Denounce England

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Irish republican sympathizers gathered at City Hall Park a few minutes before Lloyd George was due to arrive there and began marching in a long column displaying placards denouncing Great Britain.

Police quickly destroyed the placards and dispersed the marchers.

The demonstrators arrived in automobiles, formed their line of march and paced slowly along Park Row.

The placards were held by women. Each was mounted on a long pole and had denunciatory phrases painted in black on a white background.

Instantly the big crowd which had gathered to greet the former premier surged toward the placards.

Crowd Trampled Signs

A dozen policemen streamed across the park at the doublequick and one after another the signs were jerked down, smashed to bits and trampled under the feet of the crowd which followed the policemen.

The women made no resistance.

Five minutes later the "battle field" was occupied only by street cleaners engaged in "mopping up" and gathering the fragments into their carts.

NEW STREET BUILDERS MUST FURNISH BONDS

With the completion of work on grading various streets about the city, City Engineer Herpin this morning issued orders that any one wishing to excavate a street, whether a public utility or private citizen, would be required to place a bond to guarantee the repair on the street.

As provided for in section 22 of chapter 16 of the city charter, these deposits are to be made to City Clerk Milford and the requests for permits to excavate must be made in writing.

When the work has been completed and the street repaired, engineers from Mr. Herpin's office will pass on the work and if found satisfactory the deposit will be returned.

Meanest Man Gets 13 Cents of Coon Fund

Remains of coon have been written about the meanest man in the world, but recently the meanest man who makes others look like poor seconds.

Even meaner than the man who stole out from the blind horse's feed bag and substituted corn flakes, is he who made away with the "coon fund" at the Port Arthur session.

Fire looter, a box there for the maintenance and support of an orphaned pet coon, and some miscellaneous 13 cents from the sinking fund and as a result the fund is still sinking.

Many persons are crippled or burned to death, and about 15 million dollars worth of property is destroyed by fire in Texas every year.

The object of fire prevention week is to remind the people of the seriousness of fire waste, and bring to public attention the fact that the fire loss is everybody's loss and everybody's responsibility, and that the great majority of fires are preventable through the exercise of caution.

THEODORE J. J. P. Logan, mayor of the city of Port Arthur, to the end that the needless destruction of life and property by fire may be prevented, do hereby proclaim October 7, to 15th, A. D. 1936, fire prevention week in the city of Port Arthur, and hereby call upon all of our citizens to observe the occasion by clearing the city of fire hazards.

On that day let our commercial organizations, women's clubs, press, boy scouts, and all other local bodies stimulate interest in the work of eliminating fire dangers by actively engaging in a general campaign for that purpose; let the ministers of the gospel and Sunday school superintendents on Sunday, the 7th day of October, appropriately mention the need for care about fire, and let the teachers in all schools throughout the week instruct the children under their care in the execution of fire drills, and teach them the danger of fire and how it may be avoided.

IN TESTIMONY WHEREOF I hereunto sign my name and affix my official seal this 5th day of October, A. D. 1936.

ARMY ENLISTMENTS HERE FALLING OFF

A falling off in the number of army enlistments through the Port Arthur recruiting station is reported today by Sergeant M. H. Payne in charge of the station here.

During the month of August, 12 men signed up for enlistment in the army through the Port Arthur station, in September this number was slashed in half, only six enlisting in Port Arthur, and so far in October not a man has signed on the dotted line here this month, Sergeant Payne said.

DRAINAGE WORK ON STREETS NEARS FINISH

Drainage work on Port Arthur shelled streets is nearing completion and efforts are to be made to maintain the streets at the fixed levels.

To this end City Engineer Herpin has asked property owners to refrain from dumping trash in the new gutter levels.

To protect the new levels further, permits to erect bridges across gutters will be issued from the city engineer's office. New bridges must conform to the specifications now on file there, and old bridges differing from these will be ordered dismantled, under provisions of ordinance 496.

LOGAN ISSUES FIRE DICTUM

Proclamation Asks Co-Operation Prevention Week

Calling upon Port Arthurians as individuals and in organizations to stress fire prevention in Port Arthur during the week of October 7 to 15, Mayor J. P. Logan today issued a proclamation officially designating the dates of fire prevention week in Port Arthur.

The proclamation issued by the mayor is as follows:

Many persons are crippled or burned to death, and about 15 million dollars worth of property is destroyed by fire in Texas every year.

The object of fire prevention week is to remind the people of the seriousness of fire waste, and bring to public attention the fact that the fire loss is everybody's loss and everybody's responsibility, and that the great majority of fires are preventable through the exercise of caution.

Automobile Riding Increases Life

Figures compiled recently by three physicians indicate that the universal use of the automobile has added eleven years to the average life of the American citizen.

In 1900 only 30,000 cars were made and the average life was placed at 37.04 years.

In 1910, 400,000 cars were built and the average life had advanced to 48.01 years.

In 1920, 2,300,000 cars were turned out and the average life had increased to 55.05 years.

In this manner the use of the automobile has added eleven years to the average life of the American citizen.

High School Crippled, But Ready for Clash Here

Sour Lake Machine Same Port Arthur's Boys Met Last Year

Game Scheduled For Franklin Field At 3:30; Captain Crow, Fullback Butand Hurt, But Listed in Lineup Given Out For Clash

By BILL ARONER.
WITH Sour Lake as their opponents for Franklin Field tomorrow afternoon at 3:30 o'clock, Coach Leo Smith's high school proteges rested back on the oars of the football boat last night and announced "ready" for another game.
According to the law of averages, Sour Lake should go down in defeat here tomorrow—but Sour Lake is a more formidable opponent this season than she has been before, according to all available reports, with a faster crew and the same old bench they brought along last season to clash with Port Arthur High.

MY THEORY FOR TEACHING GOLF

MASHIE-NIBLOCK

HERE'S LINEUP

From right end:
H. Butand, right tackle.
Walker, center.
McGraw, quarterback.
Sullivan, right half.
W. Butand, full.

Despite the injuries of Captain Crow, sensational left end of the club, who sustained a bad ankle in scrimmage yesterday afternoon, and the bad ankle W. Butand, fullback, has been hugging around for several days past, both boys are listed in Coach Smith's lineup chosen for tomorrow's clash, and will start the game off. Both, however, may have to be yanked before the game has progressed very far, and there is no doubt but that their absence in the game against Sour Lake High will weaken the club.

According to word received here by Coach Smith, Sour Lake's contingent will arrive here in the morning; some fifteen players or more will be brought along, intent on scolding the locals and returning the dressing they got last season, and with a team capable of turning the tables.

Captain Crow's men will enter the field averaging between 150 and 160 pounds, and they will all be well-oiled for the clash.

WINS AND LOSES BELT IN NIGHT

Referee Says He Was Forced To Name Stribling

COLUMBUS, Ga., Oct. 5.—Young Stribling, an 18-year-old high school boy who went to bed last night the light-heavyweight champion of the world, today was only a contender for the crown again.
Referee Harry Little restored the championship to Mike McGraw of Ireland late last night in a written decision in which he declared his first verdict that the fight was a draw was his final opinion. The statement charged he had been forced by a threatening crowd, but that promoters of the fight lifted Young Stribling's arm, denoting him the conqueror after Eric had called the fight a draw at the end of 10 rounds.
Little's statement declaring the fight a draw, which will be filed with the New York boxing commission, said Major John Paul Jones, promoter for the American League post was the first to insist that the Macon school boy be declared a winner.
Eric said Jones told him he would never leave the ring alive unless he changed his verdict from a draw.
"Jones told me that he would never leave the ring alive unless he changed his verdict from a draw," while I had a hold of it," Eric said. McGraw issued a statement declaring he had been forced to fight by the howling mob, although suffering from an imperfectly healed fracture of a bone in his left thumb.
Although the schoolboy who for three hours held the world's title in his hands—a feat that had been the unachieved dream of every school boy—had no comment to make on the change in his fortune, his claims were backed by a dozen newspapermen and 2,000 fans who saw the youth pummel McGraw for eight of the 10 rounds.
Carrying the fight from the first round, the stripling who has risen in three years to ring fame, had the champion on the ropes and clinching most of the way. A powerful right early in the milling brought a stream of blood from McGraw's nose and left the titleholder dazed and on the defensive.
The fight followed a hectic day which crowded around about McGraw's hotel, calling him "yellow" because of his unwillingness to fight with his sore thumb, but the police held the crowd in check while a busy conference by physicians and lawyers convinced the Irishman his injury was not serious.

THIS YEAR HUGGINS IS THE BIG

BY RAY SCHALK
World's Greatest Catcher
ARE the Giants of 1923 anything an appreciation as the pennant winners and world champions of 1922 and 1921?
Are the Yankees of 1923 a better ball club than the team that twice fell before the Giants, after winning the American League pennant?
These two questions have been fired at me time and again since it is assumed that the two New York clubs will again meet in the annual baseball classic. I will first, consider the Giants.
To my way of thinking the Giants of 1923 are a superior club in every way to the pennant winner of the two previous years with the exception of pitching. And I do not believe that the pitching has slipped enough to make any great difference with the play of McGraw's club.
The Giants are a smart baseball club. They play snappy ball, are alive to every situation and quick to take advantage of a slip on the part of an opponent. To my way of thinking the Giants twice beat the Yankees in the world series because they played smarter baseball.
That was really the deciding factor.
Mental slips lose many ball games. Incidentally, such lapses have a decidedly bad effect on the morale of a ball club. Sloppy work on the bases played havoc with the chance of the Yankees in both of their clashes with the Giants. The memory of how Bancroft, at short for the Giants,

PANTHERS COP THIRD SERIES

New Orleans Pelicans Go Down, 7 to 1

FORT WORTH, Texas, Oct. 5.—The Fort Worth Panthers were resting here today after their 7-to-1 victory over New Orleans yesterday which brought the 1923 Dixie series championship to the Texas league pennant winners. The victory gave the Panthers four games against two for the Pelicans. One game was a tie.
Joe Pate, portside hurling ace of the Panthers, sent the Pelicans back to New Orleans without the title when he allowed but four hits in yesterday's fracas. Two consecutive doubles in the sixth inning gave New Orleans its only run.
Two home runs, each coming with one man on base, were capped out by Fort Worth chiggers who got to Dixie Walker in the first inning for two scores.
Fort Worth has been a contender in the Dixie Series each year since it was inaugurated between the champions of the Texas and Southern leagues, four years ago. The Panthers have won the title three times.

LOSE LAST CLASH

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 5.—St. Louis lost its last game of the season on its home grounds, being snowed under by Cleveland, 9 to 1.
It was a great day for Tris Speaker. He established a new major league record by scattering his 57th two-base hit of the season, shattering the one established by Delahanty in 1909, when with Philadelphia. The record came off a grand slam in the fourth. The Irishman, manager, in his four other trips to the plate, hit a home run in the first with Semons on base, and singled three times. He also scored four runs.

EARLY BETTING MAKES

NEW YORK, Oct. 5.—Early betting has established the American league favorite as a 2-to-1 favorite to beat Payson's British horse in the $100,000 international race on Oct. 20.
Some bets are being offered with the provision that Zev, the Rancocas colt, be selected by the Jersey club committee to carry the American colors, but unmarked opinion favors either Zev or My Own, the Grayson. Zev, said, to beat the English derby winner.

GREG BEATS DANCY

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 5.—Harry Greg, world's middleweight champion, won a 10-round newspaper decision over Jimmy Darcy, of Portland. Greg was given nine rounds.

RAY SCHALK SAYS—
Giants are great only in pitching.
Yankees are far more formidable than last year.
McGraw slips beat the Yankees in the 1922 series.
Infielder Travis Jackson has been big help to Giants.
Giants have the speed and it is a big factor in winning games.
Yankees are well equipped with men at the top of their game.
Giants should be a real threat, this year instead of a laughing stock.
Huggins is ruling Yankees, with an iron hand and guiding reins.

Sad Sam Jones for the Yankees and Art Nehf for the Giants, most likely will be doing the pitching when the world's series gets under way next Wednesday.
"Differing with John McGraw on practically all his policies, Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, is willing to discuss his plans for the series more or less in detail.
"Jones or Hoyt will pitch the first game if the conditions are right, but if it is a dark, heavy day I will start Joe Bush," Huggins said. "They are all ready."
McGraw politely insists that he does not know what Giant pitcher will be sent after the first game.
"I may not know until I have to make a decision just before the game," he said.
Nehf has been looking so good lately and he is such a steady pitcher unless one of the pitchers should insist that he is "over right."
Jones is considered the ace of the American League, champions, as he has had a very fine year. His team's figure that he ought to be good for two games in the series.
Disregarding the fact that Jones is one of the best pitchers in the American League, the Giants are not timid about him. Jones is a curve ball pitcher and the National league champions figure that because they had such an easy time all season with Johnny Morrison, the curve ball star of the Yankees, they will get to Jones.
The Giants are considering Fenwick, the Yankee southpaw with more seriousness than any of the other Yankee pitchers they will have to face.
"Wally Pipp insists that his bad ankle will mend before Wednesday and that he will be able to play first for the Yankees. Huggins, however, admits that he entertains small hope of having Pipp in the game and that he is making his plans to play Babe Ruth at first base. The Babe is now working out on the bus."
Huggins considers that the teams have equal chances to win the series.
"The Giants can do some things better than we can and we can do some things better than the Giants. It looks to me like an even bet," he said.
McGraw also expresses the opinion that chances are about even as far as paper form is concerned. Most of the fans figure like Connie that the "breaks" in a short series are all important.

SMOKELESS POWDER
A German discovered gun cotton, which is used in every kind of smokeless. An American discovered a means of rendering it available, called collodion. An Italian discovered nitrocellulose, used today in all such smokeless. A Scandinavian first used it in making powder. An Englishman patented the first bulk smokeless. And a Frenchman is the father of modern nitro-cellulose, dense powder.—Sportsman's Digest.

Then asked in considering the Giants as a team, the fact that McGraw's players are in a position to play more games. McGraw is a conservative, who does not take risks. He makes his moves slowly and surely. His players respect his every word. McGraw fails to follow his directions.
The Giants/then are a smart ball club, well handled, great power on the offense and a pretty fair defense. The pitching staff is one of the best in the league. McGraw is a great manager. He has a great eye for individual stars, a punch on the offense, the biggest threat to the Yankees. A remarkable pitching staff, yet in the two big world series, the club has failed to live up to expectations.
I think better days are ahead for the Yankees. The addition of Fenwick strengthened the pitching staff. The Yankees lacked a good southpaw. Fenwick has filled that breach. He should throw the Yankees' play this year has been the fine spirit and harmony that has prevailed in the club ranks. Individual effort has been abundant with the team play. Incidentally, Manager Miller Huggins is a religious observer. His word is law, and his orders are being followed to the letter.
Yes, the Giants and Yankees of 1923 are both improved ball clubs over former years, and the Yankees, to my way of thinking, have gained the more strength.

Budwine-Couch Match
Attracts Attention As Day
For Nat Bout Approaches
PREPARATIONS looking toward one of the snappiest wrestling cards that has been scheduled here this season are rapidly drawing to a close, and Monday evening, October 8th, at 8 o'clock, will find the huskiest 100-pounders in this section grappling again at Plaza Natatorium.
Joe Couch, who met Owen Budwine here recently, wrestling two hours to a draw before a crowd that was held to the pitch of excitement throughout the match, will grapple again in a specially contested arena at the Nat. in a "finish match." Permission to put on the finish match has been secured by the wrestler, it is understood, and both have been hard at work training for their approaching bout since their initial appearance here this season.
The Nat was formally opened for an athletic season with the appearance of Budwine and Couch, famous being treated to some snappy clinching on the mats.
Seating arrangements to care for a crowd of some 500 fans has been made at the Nat, and the arena constructed in the lowest corner of the tank which the past summer was the scene of numerous athletic ventures under the direction of Harry E. Coughlin, famous southern swimmer.
"A fast prelim card to include possibly three match-bouts, one of which will be almost as speedy as the main go, have been arranged for the bout, names of the contestants, however, being withheld at present. A surprise is in order for the semi-main event, it is understood, two local grapplers having agreed to go on for that affair which will probably develop into one of the most entertaining goes of the evening.
Young Couch and Budwine are both well known in this section and have appeared several times before in sensational bouts. Couch is an exponent of the late Pat Brown, and was named in Taylor, Texas, where Brown landed his home and brought up several speedy wrestlers under his guiding arm.
A general admission of 75 cents will be assessed the fans for the bout, tickets being sold at the door of the Nat Monday evening. Rinside seats have been arranged and will be the choice seats of the evening.

'Spendthrift' by Warren Stock Co. Makes Strong Impression on Audience

Admirably interpreted and acted by Miss Rose Harris, leading lady with the Bobby Warren stock company, and all other members of the dramatic forces, the play "The Spendthrift" opened in the Elks theatre Thursday night.

Scenery, costumes and lighting effects arranged for the production greatly added to the fine interpretation given by the cast, and the play is one of the strongest dramatic offerings presented to Port Arthur theatre-goers.

The plot of "The Spendthrift" is woven around a frivolous society woman whose love for beautiful clothes, luxuries and fast life wrecks the career of her husband. When presented at the Hudson theatre, with Ethel Barrymore in the leading role, "The Spendthrift" pulled up a record of 200 performances.

The production is said to be one of the best ever appearing in Port Arthur.

BEAUMONT, Texas, Oct. 2.—More than 500 "Dollars" from Port Arthur, Orange, Midland, Houston, Dallas, Fort Worth and other surrounding towns are expected to take part in the Armistice Day services which will be held here.

Special ceremonies will be held at that time and members of the Grand Army of the Republic, who attended a meeting of the lodge here Thursday night, stated they had already started preparing for their part in the program. A number of events are scheduled for that day, including a parade in which all members of the lodge will take part.

Recapitulation of offenses charged shows the following: Assault and battery 13; affray 22; disturbing the peace 3; investigation 18; vagrancy 24; intoxication 34; abusive language 25; gaming with cards 8; gaming with dice 10; run away from home 1; speeding 13; aggravated assault 2; petty theft 5; refusing to assist an officer 2; wearing dress of opposite sex 1; carrying concealed weapons 2; loitering around jail 1; running over mail 11; unlawfully riding freight train 2; flitting on street 1; forfeiting bond 1; riding bicycle without lights 1; riding bicycle on sidewalk 1; leaving car with motor running 1; parking in safety zone 3; driving through safety zone 2; driving car with outstuck open 1; driving car with straight tail pipe 1.

Four cases charging traffic violations were dismissed in corporation court this morning, because of former Motorcycle Officer Mills leaving the police force.

Pimples Cause It

Whenever you go out to places of amusement, you can't help but pity the many folks you see trying to have a good time, but are so shrinking and backward about coming near others where they can see their pimply, blotchy and even skin that you can see they are only torturing their minds instead of throwing all cares to the four winds and enjoying themselves.

You almost feel like going up to them and telling them that they ought to begin using the wonderful Black and White Ointment, which so many thousands of happy people are depending on to keep their skin clean, smooth and good to look at.

Black and White Ointment is from whom the divorce was granted. It is from the phenomenal rate of nearly two million packages a year, and the fact that it is so economically priced is largely responsible for this record. The 50c size contains three times as much as the 25c size. All dealers have it.

King, from whom the divorce was granted, appeared before the 60th district court grand jury a short time ago and testified that he had been beaten and robbed by some Port Arthur citizens. Mrs. King alleged cruelty, desertion and infidelity in her suit.

NEVADA WAGES SOILED LINEN

Governor Signs Other Statute for Divorce Record
CARSON CITY, Nev., Oct. 5.—The "divorce crop" of 1932 in Nevada, declared by the United States census bureau to be the highest of any state in the country is due to failure of other states to accommodate their divorce laws to the internal demands in the opinion of Governor Scoville.

"The high divorce rate in Nevada is not due to any peculiar condition within the state," the executive said. Bishop George C. Manning of the Episcopal Church of Nevada, however, announced he planned to start a vigorous fight for repeal of the present easy divorce statute in the state.

"The census bureau's figures indicate," the bishop said, "that while the marriage institution is normally accommodating throughout the country, the divorce demand is not equally served. Other states have resisted that demand and merely transferred their cases to Nevada."

"That the high divorce rate is continuing in the state was shown by the fact that during September there were 45 licenses issued in Reno and 43 divorces."

Clothiers Are Irieked By Shortage in Sales

CHICAGO, Oct. 5.—American men are irksome to retail clothiers in national convention here.

Only 32 suits were sold to every 100 men last year, the retailers admit, despite their assertions that every man should own two or three business suits, a "best" suit, a dress suit, a dinner suit, golfing suit, bathing suit, evening suit, a Pajama. All but various other underwear, as well as union suits, which aren't counted among the 52 that every 100 men bought.

The underwear makers and dealers, who seem to be making nine-tenths of the noise at this convention, howled reproachfully at the public. It is officially announced that at least 50 per cent of the underwear sent to laundries is torn or full of holes, which, the underwear people declare, is a call for new underwear.

POST AT WACO

Bryan Officially Declines Chief Justice Chair

AUSTIN, Oct. 5.—W. C. Davis has declined to accept the position of chief justice of the tenth court of civil appeals at Waco and has no intention of the governor, who gave him the appointment some weeks ago. This makes the second refusal to serve on the court before it commences to function as a tribunal. James H. Robertson of Meridian resigned after he had accepted a place on the court, and John W. Spivey of Austin was appointed in his place.

W. C. Davis is district judge at Bryan, where he owns extensive plantation interests. Acceptance on the appellate court would force him to remove to Waco and separate him from his business interests. He did not resign as district judge when appointed on the appellate bench and will continue in the former capacity at Bryan.

The higher courts opened Monday for the term and the newly created court at Waco has but two judges, and neither is the chief justice. John W. Barnes of Waco and Judge Spivey are the two active members of the court.

LA FOLLETTE AS A PROPHECY

Less than a year ago Senator R. M. LaFollette of Wisconsin predicted the early coming of dollar gasoline. He had the evidence, as he said, that the Standard Oil and its thirteen subsidiaries dominated the petroleum industry, not only in the United States but the wide world over.

Now some of the cubers are making a tank-wagon price of eight cents in North Texas cities, cub service stations are selling gas at nine cents and before the war is over the man who puts his foot on the gas may be getting it for eight cents.

Now the Standard is not responsible for cheap gas. No petroleum organizing is responsible for cheap gas.

California gushers came in and flooded the American world with crude and now the war is on and the Lord help the little refiners with scant financial backing and the independents who are running service stations in order to make a living.

This is the time that the longest purse or pole knocks the pennymen.

WHY THEY JIGNED HIM

According to an Alabama congressman, congress is virtually certain to accept Henry Ford's offer for Muscle Shoals if he will resubmit it. It will be impossible for him to resubmit his original proposal.

Wasn't the Gorgas plant passed on to an Alabama power concern just the other day? The billionaire flivver maker put in his bid for the whole works and not the left-over. He knows what he wants and when he wants it. He may want the presidency but to date the political boomers of America have been unable to get a line from him or a dollar out of the Ford barrel.

There are those who are unkind enough to say that the second American billionaire doesn't play the political game that way.

GARY AND GOMPERS TO THE MAT

Money is easy in America. New Yorkers paid $1,300,000 to witness a prize fight that lasted eight minutes and now the American Federation of Labor has decided to spend a million dollars to make union men of the steel workers. Judge Elbert H. Gary is the superman of American steel. He has a billion behind him in whatever he undertakes. A bare knuckle fight between Samuel Gompers and Elbert H. Gary will be one of the spectacular events of the year 1924.

CHRIST IN MAN

Dr. George W. Truett, famous Baptist preacher and pulpit orator of Texas, returned from Europe and the Holy Land with this message: "Christ in Man works all reforms. Christ gives a new motive. A man misrepresents Christ when he draws race distinctions and caste and class divisions in religious teachings anywhere. I am for any League of Nations which will bring together the great men of the country and settle international affairs. Christ is the only way. Through Him the wars can cease. We are bound together in one life on Christ. Through Him we will fill the need which confronts us in our home, our state, our nation and the world." A noble message. It should ring around the world.

ALREADY SEWED UP

Former Governor Frank O. Lowden of Illinois is one of the successful business men and farmers of America. He is coming to Texas. He will be the star attraction at the State Fair of Texas on Tuesday, October 23. There are western republicans who do say that this former governor would make an ideal standard bearer for the republican party should Calvin Coolidge fail to make good between this time and the month of June, 1924. But why should he come to Texas. Hasn't Texas been pledged to the Coolidge cause by the leading republicans of the commonwealth?

PRICE A SINGING MINSTREL

Theodore Price of New York and the world is an optimist. His latest is that prosperity is sweeping over the western world. Farm products all over the country are bringing high prices, credit is plentiful and the reserve ratio of the Federal Reserve System is nearly the legal minimum.

Incidentally, he remarks that corn, our most valuable crop, is selling at 91 cents, the highest of the year and twenty-two cents above its value two months ago, while cotton, the second most valuable crop, is spinning around the thirty cent mark.

He admits that a New York grand jury has made the operators of New York bucket shops very pessimistic, but regardless of the despondency of the sheep shearers and lamb slayers Optimist Price is of the opinion that there is every reason why the merchants, manufacturers and farmers of the United States ought to be satisfied and hopeful.

Theodore Price knows his America; he knows conditions; he knows that Wall Street only covers a small spot on the map; he knows that the bucket shop buccaners are getting just what was coming to them.

HARVESTS ARE HEAVY

David Lloyd George is on his way to the United States. He predicts a gloomy future for the nations of Europe but is hopeful that the English speaking people of the world will be able in time to save the aforesaid world from going headlong to the devil.

According to all American tourists who have traveled abroad this year and all world crop reporters the harvests of Europe have been the heaviest since the signing of the armistice. Now why should the brilliant little Welchman despair?

Whenever it is possible for the nations of Continental Europe to produce sufficient food crops to feed all the hungry mouths it is a mortal cinch that these nations are returning to normalcy. Isn't this the truth as well as the logic of history?

PRICE OF PAIN.

Warren C. McCray was the most successful farmer and breeder of pedigreed livestock in the state of Indiana when the republican politicians induced him to become the governor of the Hoosier state. Now his farms and his herds are in the hands of receivers and an Indianapolis judge has appointed a special prosecutor to conduct a grand jury investigation of the financial affairs of the chief executive of the commonwealth. Politics is an ugly game. Governor McCray has found it to be a costly as well as a nasty game. His financial affairs are said to be free from knavery or trickery but his political enemies demanded an investigation and a judge made the order. It is a great honor to be governor of a great state—it is a damned if you do and damned if you don't.

CHAPTER XXII

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Loring Ranger offers a reward of one hundred thousand dollars for the return of his missing daughter, Hope. Acting upon instructions from Hope's father, Ranger deposits a hundred thousand dollars worth of bonds at a specified place.

Now go on with the story. "Bristow knows there is a hiding place in the house. I am going to give myself up. Reach my father. Love forever. Hope."

Without giving her impulse time to cool, she hurried back to the cupboard and crept into the passage, looking the panel carefully behind her. Kelsey still lay in deep, exhausted sleep. She bent over him, her lips near his; then drew back, fearing to awaken him. Very gently she slipped the note between his relaxed fingers, and then felt her way along the wall until she reached the other exit.

Outside at last; and no sign that she had attracted any attention. Shaded by two or three out-buildings, and concealed by patches of shrubbery, she reached the gap in the hedge. Passing through it, she made a quick detour to the right to muddy her skirt and shoes in the trickle of a brook; and on a last came to the open space where the wrecked automobile lay.

She heard the men approaching who had been whistled back from the woods, and began dodging from tree to tree as if attempting to hide.

They saw her as she had intended they should. Two of them caught her. She made a show of struggle, but they held her fast by the arms.

In answer to their shouts, Bristow and the others came running through the hedge.

"Ah!" he said with unctuous satisfaction as if a weight had been suddenly removed from his chest. "Now to get the other one." His eyes were like points of steel as he came close to Hope.

"Where's Kelsey?" he demanded. She looked at him vacantly.

"Kelsey," he repeated, "the man you went away with. Where is he?"

"That man? He was under the automobile; there was blood on him."

"Yes, yes. But what became of him?"

"That man is crazy. He said he wasn't, but I know better. I wanted him to hide in the woods. I know these woods." She passed her hand uncertainly over her forehead. "I don't know how I know them, but I do. I wanted him to hide here, but he wouldn't do it. He talked about getting a boat down on the beach, and when I wouldn't go with him he ran away." She waved her hand vaguely toward the shore.

Bristow's eyes bored through her, but she looked beyond him listlessly indifferent.

Finally he gave a curt order to have her taken back to the hospital.

CHAPTER XXI

Kelsey woke up slowly, dragging from his long, exhausted sleep and blinked his heavy eyes.

Why, it was daylight! His whole sleep-fogged brain was roused now. Why was the panel open? Ah! There Hope stood in it—Not it was a man.

The man in the opening ducked, and raised an arm to shield himself. "I'm a friend!" he cried, throwing himself against the side of the cupboard. "Honest; you can believe me. A friend of Ranger's."

Kelsey looked above him, still threatening; but his lowering glance had shifted. What was this he was holding in his clenched hand—that bit of white paper sticking through his fingers, between the spreading knuckles?

James Charlie had doctored; and quick as a cat on his feet, stepped from the cupboard into the room.

Kelsey had unclosed his hand, and was straightening out the paper. He could see that there was something written on it, but the light was too dim and gray for him to decipher it. He was in the room and at the window in two strides.

Here he read Hope's message. The faint was flashing against the window-pane, the wind whistling about the house.

The unshrinking blood darkened his face. He whirled savagely, and caught Charlie by the shoulder, shaking him hard.

"Who are you? One of their men? Did you help take her?"

"I did not," Charlie wriggled like an eel from that biting grip and stood rubbing his shoulder. "I'm one of Ranger's men, James Charlie. Do you get that?"

He swaggered, his hands in his trousers' pockets, his head at its most impudent angle.

"I've been wondering about you one of a while—muzzle, trying to guess the rest out of the air. And now you got the other two-thirds. They know that I'm on their track, and that I've been in Barcelona. They think you're drowned."

"Drowned? Me?" Kelsey repeated. "In heaven's name, why?"

"She told them you'd made for the shore, and a boat. Then, that terrific storm. Lord! Did you sleep through that?"

"I seem to have slept through everything, but my own special judgment says, I'm going through that now."

"But still," Charlie continued, "there's always the chance of your being alive and at large. So every thing considered, they've got a new situation before them, something they haven't foreseen."

"But, my God! if you're what you say you are, one of Ranger's men, all you have to do is to go out now and telephone him and the authorities."

"Oh, is it?" Charlie retorted with acid sarcasm. "This thing isn't quite as simple as it sounds. You start out to telephone, and you'll be nabbed sure."

Half convinced Kelsey gave way ungraciously.

"What sort of a place is this sanitarium?" The brusque tang of the question gave Kelsey the feeling that Charlie was really heading some where, and aroused him from his melancholy abstraction.

"Bristow's?" He looked up. "One of the best in the country. Only for the very rich of course; thoroughly modern, splendidly managed. Bristow is an alchemist of the first rank, with a criminal twist and a craze for money."

"What were you doing there?" Kelsey told him briefly of his position as assistant surgeon, and the circumstances of his detention; in his first experience with Hope and of the role he was playing in their subsequent meetings and the escape.

Charlie's cigar burned to ashes in his fingers as he listened, his face sharpened down until it was wolfish; but he did not once interrupt the story or ask a question.

"Bristow?" He held up one of his lightning rolled cigarettes, naming it. "But," squinting thoughtfully, as he laid it on the table, "he wouldn't swing it about Hope. Who else is in it?"

He shot the question at Kelsey like a bullet from a rapid fire revolver. "Miss Cooper, she's a native. Looks strikingly like Hope. Passed as an older sister in charge of the insane younger one."

Charlie pursed his mouth in a whistle. "Higgins. An ex-almshouse. An old millionaire. Made a fortune in Wall Street, they say."

Charlie bunched up with a stifled exclamation, his tongue clicking his teeth.

"Hobo Bill! That does settle it. Hobo Bill! I might have known it. Hobo—the joker in the deck!"

He bobbed about the room like cork, snapping his fingers, muttering broken phrases under his breath.

"The hobo messages!—This hobo's hatch for a headquarters!—The nurse, a ringer!—I've got the whole thing!"

CHAPTER XXII

"In the first place," said Charlie, "I've known Ranger ever since I was a boy, and when I heard about his little girl, I started out on my own to find her. I know crook psychology better than old Byrnes ever did; but this gang that are holding her fooled me forty ways from the ace. But last night I got a tip that led straight to Bristow's sanitarium."

"I rode as fast as my motorcycle could race from Westchester to Barcelona, taking all the short cuts. It was one of them that I came on you two. And so I rushed for a doctor, thinking you were ready to kick in; and as soon as I reached the village, I got punched. So I just turned in and went to sleep; that is, as much as that fierce storm would let me."

"But in the meantime, my mascot had got busy. She it was who gave me the lead to Bristow. I'd had dinner with her, and put her back in a bus with her party. They all went on to spend the evening with some friends, and as they came back about midnight, they stopped at the Lungs Hill garage for some gas. Up steps the garage man's assistant, a shock-headed lunk that had driven me and my queen to the bus. He was all twittering with excitement, and tells me that I've been arrested over here at Barcelona."

"What a headpiece that girl's got. Here's her friends kind of judging at her for being took in. She don't believe that! For she saw me with Ranger. And Barcelona is the tip she gave me. But she wants to make sure. So what she does do but call on the man whose name's been in all the papers as Ranger's attorney, Puccio Highy."

"He tells her that I'm all right, and then he runs out Frank Bryan, Ranger's private secretary, and shoots him down here on the morning train to get me out."

LETTERS FROM ALICE HARRINGTON TO MRS. JOSEPH GRAYSON HARRINGTON

MOTHER DEAR:

First let me tell you the great news. Betty Hickley is going to marry a titled Englishman this fall and before the marriage she is going to be presented at court. She tells me that if I want to, she will try to have me presented with her.

Oh mother, don't you think I can? Just imagine what it would mean! I could come home after being presented at court! Wouldn't I lord it over those Van Rensselaer girls, who have always been rather Ritz with me because father made his money instead of having it left to him.

I wouldn't exchange dear old dad for their gaudy, crusty old father if he were a king instead of a gentle old curmudgeon who has to be almost carried from his house to his club and back again. Darling old dad is a man, but for all that I'm vain enough to want to put those snobs of Van Rensselaer girls in their places.

Karl laughs at me when I talk about them and he says all the nice things he can think of about the youngest one, and of course that makes me madder than ever, especially when Karl said, "You know, Alice, as inheritors of money have to stand up for our own class."

I know he doesn't mean to be unkind when he says that. He is just saying it to get my goat, for he has often told me that he would have been a much better man and of much more use to society if he had had to earn his own living. He is just wonderful to me over here. Never say any more attention to any of those fascinating English girls than he does to little me.

I wish you would tell Leslie to write me. I haven't had a letter from her in ever so long. I suppose she is so busy.

HANDSOME CLOTH COATS FOR WINTER SO ELEGANT THEY RIVAL THOSE OF FUR

COATS for midday and winter continue to be developed in the velvety wool pile fabrics. There are models of duvetyne or cashmere duvetyne, and also a soft wool material having a luster rather like broadcloth and suggesting satin at a little distance. Luster-wool materials are featured.

Most of the smartest wool coats this fall are fur-trimmed and are so attractive and designed along such pleasing new lines that modish women pause and debate whether to buy fur-trimmed cloth or all fur coats.

Gray, in shades like fox, squirrel and platinum, is a popular color note for coats. Black is prominent, lending itself better than anything else to the colorful and elaborate embroidery, which continues to be in vogue, associated with a substantial use of gold and silver thread. Brown, in shades ranging from tawny to deep chocolate, is largely represented. Brown is often associated with beaver fur and with self-tone rather than contrasting embroidery.

Dark green in myrtle or bottle shade is expected to be seen in outer apparel of the more exclusive sort. Green for coats and suits would not ordinarily meet with popular approval but the color this season has attained a distinction that appeals all nations of what may be done with it. In regard to dark blue forecasts, some advocate it and others consider it negligible. Its prospects are not particularly good at this time.

Three silhouettes are featured in coats, the straight, the slight and the straight to knee with circular collar below. The three-quarter coat is considered very smart. It may be flared a little and supplied with the standing inner collar introduced by this French collector.

The suit coat is rather a novelty, consisting of a fur upper part with cloth skirt portion, joined together under a fold or plait, and producing the effect of a short fur jacket with a deep band of fur around the waist. Some coats are made with black wool pile fabric in mole with cloth to match and in other combinations. Some cloth coats are so lavishly trimmed with fur that they appear as cloth-trimmed fur coats rather than the other way around.

Generally speaking, fur is not being used in recent ways for outer wear, although prominently featured and used in quantity. In addition to the collar and bolter collars of fur, with deep fur cuffs, other garments exhibit the long fur collar and a deep band of fur around the waist. Some coats are made with black wool pile fabric in mole with cloth to match and in other combinations. Some cloth coats are so lavishly trimmed with fur that they appear as cloth-trimmed fur coats rather than the other way around.

Fox and wolf in the platinum and beige shades are much used. The fox and wolf are prominently featured in natural gray and in various shades of silver and gold. Beaver has its representation for the brown coats and suits. Badger is enjoying a decided vogue, and there is some indication that astrakhan will be a high style feature. The conservative fur that hold their own are mole and caracul, the latter in black and camel shade.

As for sleeve designs, the coats with circular sleeves may be circular sleeve sections. There is a new square cut sleeve that depends in a point at the back of the hand, sometimes accompanied by a decorative rather cuff. The set-in sleeve, with its straight, with decorative armhole, is the most useful type. Deep armholes, to waitline, if wrap-up effects, are seldom seen now. A wing sleeve that deserves notice, is a sort of wing drapery that might become a cape back if it were not separated. The cape back also is featured.

The coat with all-around belt or girdle is the exception, and even the self-belt is not worn as often as the button or clasp fastening. A few models are belted across the front only with a crush girdle of the material. Belts are usually plain and straight at waistline, although a few slightly bloused effects break the straight-back line in some models. The belt side closing continues to be strongly emphasized.

It is positively marvelous how speedily it acts. Unusual relief often comes after the use of the first suppository even in cases with profuse bleeding that have resisted all known treatments; often after operation, really wonderful results have been accomplished.

The discovery of this truly wonderful substance has truly wonderful results all over the country to guarantee MOXYA SUPPOSITORIES in every case of piles, bleeding or protruding piles. It has gone so far as any medicine in the world to cure any individual's piles, even in the worst cases, unless it is completely gone what is claimed for it. Since the shiny fabrics are going to be very much worn this season, you'll find them prominent in our collections, especially the satins which lend their luster so readily to pleating. And crepes are good as also are velvets and novelty weaves that require an inspection rather than a description.

'Mike' Enters US Here, Dies At Houston

Mikhail, "hush-mouth" Russian, bear in the Houston zoo, whose entry into the United States was recently effected in Port Arthur when special permission to land him here off the German steamship Julius Schindler was wired by Secretary of State Hughes a few hours before the ship sailed, is dead today, a victim of pneumonia.

When the Julius Schindler drew up alongside of a Houston dock before coming to Port Arthur, zoo officials meeting the ship to welcome the hairy Russian immigrant were thwarted by United States customs officials who refused their permission to remove "Mike" from the ship, holding that nothing can be imported from Russia without special permission.

Before the special permission was received by officials of the Houston zoo, the Julius Schindler had left Houston for Port Arthur, with "Mike" held aboard for deportation. Then came the word from Secretary of State Hughes granting "Mike" admission into the United States. He was taken off the ship and transported to Houston on a truck sent to this port for him.

According to advices reaching Port Arthur today telling of "Mike's" death, he contracted the fatal disease soon after his arrival in Houston.

NEW SURE WAY TO END BILIOUSNESS

Torpid Liver Fills Body With Poisons—Peppinat Calomel Guaranteed to Relieve Between Sundown and Sunup—No Nausea.

Calomel is the only medicine that will actually reach the liver, but ordinary calomel is so drastic that many have deprived themselves of its fine effects because of its harshness. This objection has been overcome in Peppinat Calomel. Many who formerly could not take calomel are finding a most acceptable remedy in Peppinat Calomel (which doctors recognize as the standard of purity), treated with peppin and other soothing ingredients that not only stimulate the liver to normal action, but sweeten the stomach and aid digestion. Many report that the use of Peppinat Calomel unclogs their systems of poisons, waste, brings back appetite, restores dullness to disappear and makes them "feel like new."

Hart Drug Company and all reliable druggists recommend and guarantee Peppinat Calomel to bring relief between sundown and sunup, or your money refunded. Try it—we guarantee you'll feel better tomorrow. (Adv.)

New Touring Car

Looking at the new touring car from the side, you are at once favorably impressed with the effect of longer, more graceful lines secured by enlarging the cowl and raising the radiator.

Showering windshield and crown-top lend material aid in giving the car a lower, more stylish appearance.

An apron connecting the radiator with the fender skirts is also a decided improvement.

A comfort feature much appreciated by owners, is the additional leg room provided by the enlargement of the cowl.
